Last Chance

Friday and Saturday Are the Last Days of the Big Sale of PIANOS

This is the sale that caused so much interest. Don't fail to be one of the fortunate ones. Come and see the final lot of pianos—no talking will be necessary to induce you to buy. The number is limited and you must come quick if you want first choice.

On June first we will move to the corner of Broad and State Streets, where we will take possession of the magnificent corner warehouse in the new Fidelity Building.

We will proceed to open the finest piano warehouse in the city. No effort will be spared to make it one of the show places of Bridgeport.

To that end it is necessary to sell all remaining pianos if we open up with a brand new stock.

The following are yet to be sold:

BRAND NEW PIANOS
$275	STYLES NOW	$190	$400
$325	STYLES NOW	$225	$450
$350	STYLES NOW	$250	$476
$375	STYLES NOW	$265	$525
$550	STYLES NOW	$395

USED PIANOS
$235	Wissner—boudoir size, nicely finished, sweet toned—was $450.	$185	Reinhard, was out on rent, carved panel, mahogany, colonial design—was $325.
$65	Dunham & Son—ebony case, just right for a beginner.	$190	Richardson upright, large size, plain panel, mahogany finish, like new—was $350.
$125	Jacob Bros.—walnut case, brilliant tone, good condition.	$145	Weaver Bros., mahogany finish, very elaborate, magnificently carved, three pedals, mellow tone. A rare bargain.
$165	Gordon, Mah. case carved panel, 3 pedals, was $400.	$75	Multhead & Turnbull, inlaid panels, fancy brass candlesticks.
$175	Gilbert & Co. Plain panel, Mah. finish, three pedals, colonial design, like new—was $350.

With every one of these instruments goes a stool, cover, one year's free tuning and free delivery. We will deliver at these prices—any one instrument upon receiving a small payment down and your promise to pay a regular amount each month. NO INTEREST.

The Man From Home

A Novelization of the Play of the Same Name

By BOOTH TARKINGTON and HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

"Then you're a chauffeur, all right," returned the lawyer, forcing the rough garment on the man. "Here: climb in under that machine, and don't you dare unscrew anything. Pretend you are fixing."

He pushed the refugee toward the machine and saw him wriggle beneath it, then heard Mariano's agitated voice calling in the hotel. An instant later the maître d'hôtel rushed out to the entrance gates and threw them wide open, revealing two carabinieri without, who immediately entered. Then ensued a conversation in Italian that was pure Sanskrit to Pike, who looked on with calm interest. The commandant of the file addressed the lawyer in a long speech, to which Pike smiled and waved a cigar.

"Wishing you many happy returns, colonel," he said genially, and Mariano hastened forward.

"It is the robber of Russia. They think he climb the wall, the assassin. The others, they surround all yonder. These two, they search here. They ask you please, signore, have you seen him climb the wall?"

"No," replied Daniel shortly, turning away.

"They ask, then, has any one crossed the lawn?" went on the servant.

"No," replied Daniel, and as he spoke one of the men pointed his gun beneath the car at the figure in the long blouse.

"He ask who that is, signore," said Mariano excitedly, also pointing.

"The new chauffeur for the machine from Paris," answered Pike casually, and, with a bow, the two went off, one to the right and the other to the left. As they disappeared Von Grollenhagen came walking across the grass with some white rags in his hands and an amused smile upon his face.

"Is there a new eruption of Vesuvius?" he asked, waving the cloths.

Daniel met him and took the rags.

"No," he said dryly. "It's an eruption of colonels trying to arrest a high school professor. I've got him under your car there, yonder."

The start the German gave would have been ludicrous in any other situation.

"My friend," he said, "do you realize the penalty for protecting a criminal from arrest?"

"I told them he was your chauffeur. We'll be proud of the risk, doc." He turned to the refugee under the machine. "This man owns the car," he went on. "You can trust him the same as your own father." And the German shrugged his shoulders in protest.

There was a clatter of arms, and Pike looked up.

"Look out!" he said. "The governor's staff is coming back." And as the carabinieri returned, he said casually to Von Grollenhagen:

"You'll have to get a new front tire, doc. That one is pretty near gone. Better have Jim here put on the spare one when he gets through."

The German looked at him.

"Do you know what you are asking me to do?"

"To have a new front tire put on," answered the lawyer. The police were looking on with interest, and finally Mariano approached.

"The carabinieri, with all excuses, beg that you will order the chauffeur to step forth from the machine."

Pike made an exclamation.

"No, sir! I worked on that machine myself for three hours. He's got his hands full of nuts and bolts and screws half fastened. We want to get the job finished. Tell them to go on up Main street with their Knights of Pythias parade and come around some day when we're not busy."

Mariano held a hurried consultation with the carabinieri and turned back.

"Because the chauffeur have been engage today the carabinieri ask ten thousand pardons, but inquire how long he have been known to his employer."

"How long! Why, he was raised on doc's father's farm!"

"If that is so," began Mariano.

"So? Of course it's so. Tell 'em, doc!"

The German looked at Mariano gravely.

"You have heard my friend say it."

"I have your permission, Herr von Grollenhagen, to reveal your incognito to the carabinieri?"

In Memory of Our Dead Heroes

DECORATION DAY—the day on which we pay tribute to those who fought to save our country. Who by their untiring energy—pluck, and force of character made possible our happiness of today. Thoughts of them remain a sacred and precious memory of the American people.

Let us then honor those brave Soldiers—who, at the awful price of giving up their lives, in a terrible struggle to uphold a principle which they thought right—and to preserve this great and glorious Country of ours.

Believing that at least one day in each year should be devoted in reverence to those who died for us, we will—in their honor—remain closed on Monday, May 31st.
